Freedom from disease!

That is another important point to be insisted upon.

Disease—the enemy of the health, hope and happiness of humanity — has no place in the progress of civilization.

Disease is a relic of barbarism, ignorance and superstition. Its cause has been diligently sought for by man through every phase of human history.

Until twenty-five years ago the best that man was able to claim for his age-long search was a host of palliatives to relieve the effects, but nothing to remove the cause of disease.

The number of people in the United States who subscribe to some form of drugless healing have more than doubled in ten years' time. Chiropractic is the foremost drugless system. What does this indicate in the general trend of thought?

For the cause could not be removed until it was known. It is characteristic of the stupidity of humanity that the cause of disease was sought from everywhere outside the human body. Witch doctors claimed it was due to evil spirits, astrologers blamed it on the solar system and physicians said disease was caused by germs. Since the body itself always has germs within it, if the germ theory was correct no one would be alive to believe it.

In 1895 the cause of disease was proclaimed to be due to the pressure of the bony segments of the spine upon nerves emitting between them. This revolutionary claim was made because it was found that when the vertebrae were out of alignment, disease was always present in one form or another. Similarly, when these bones of the spine were adjusted to normal position the disease disappeared and when the vertebrae were permanently realigned, health was a permanent result.

This happened twenty-five years ago. It has happened every day of every year since that time. Today it happens weekly to over one million American citizens. Among this million is numbered the world's wealthiest man, who can afford every known thing at the command of science. The poorest of the poor by the legion are restored to health by Chiropractic and enabled to earn a comfortable living. Chiropractic appeals to those of an investigating turn of mind in every class and creed. The tremendous following it has among the eminently successful appearing in "Who's Who" is evidently due to this capacity for independent thinking.

Only recently the American people were surprised to learn that a case of talking sickness was restored to normal by Chiropractic adjustments. The press heralded the event as something marvelous and syndicated the story over the entire continent. We are verifying the reports by publishing a sworn statement by the parents of the little girl who was afflicted.

For days the papers carried the details of the case, stating that eminent specialists were being called to examine the case. Each in turn was helpless to stop the incessant talking. These eminent men of science were confounded and science was baffled, so the papers stated. Over 10,000 Chiropractors in America read those stories in the papers and knew the cause of the trouble; knew what to do to remove it and knew that the child's life could be saved and perfect health restored even after she was given up to die by "the most eminent specialists."

Finally, as the very last resort, a Chiropractor was called. He gave some simple spinal adjustments with his bare hands and the case that had "baffled science" was normal!

Day after day these 10,000 Chiropractors read of thousands of cases with a similar story. They read of people suffering with every disease common to humanity, from headache to talking and sleeping sickness. We never know where the lightning will strike next. You never know when you may become ill and fail to get results with the older systems of healing. Remember that beyond all these stands Chiropractic. If you are foresighted enough to try Chiropractic first, you will be well before your disease has an opportunity to baffle medical science. If you really want to know just what Chiropractic will do in your case, go to your Chiropractor and have him explain to you how Chiropractic will restore you to health—vigorous, thrilling vitality that makes every minute a joy and a pleasure. Because the science is new, your Chiropractor expects you to ask for a complete explanation and to ask many questions upon points which are not clear to you. Let him tell you frankly just what results you may expect in your case. Let him refer you to patients whose trouble was the same as yours before they got well under Chiropractic adjustments. He will refer you only to people who have given him permission to do so and who are anxious to see others restored to health. Perhaps you will be personally acquainted with some of these cases. At any rate, after you have secured absolute proof that Chiropractic adjustments get results in cases like yours, you will still have the unquestioned right to decide for yourself just what you think Chiropractic will do for you personally. You will be under no obligations to the Chiropractor whom you consulted and you may take advantage of a science which will restore you to health, permanently relieve you of all your aches, pains and suffering, and place you once more upon the threshold of a healthier, happier life of greater service to those near and dear to you, with a greater future open before you.

CASE OF TALKING SICKNESS THAT ATTRACTED NATION-WIDE ATTENTION IS RESTORED BY CHIROPRACTIC

STATE OF ILLINOIS, }
COUNTY OF LAKE. } ss.

We, the undersigned, each being duly sworn on oath, depose and say, that Miriam Rubin, eight years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rubin of No. 132 Gillette Avenue, Waukegan, Illinois, recently became afflicted with a malady referred to as talking sickness, and from the time she became ill she was talking constantly and continuously for the period of eight days, during which period of time said Miriam Rubin did not sleep, but merely continued to talk; that Doctor R. H. T. Nesbitt, of Waukegan, Illinois, the family physician, was called shortly after she became ill; and that Doctor Albert E. Brown, County Physician, of Waukegan, Illinois, was called for consultation; and that in addition there was called into the case the following physicians—specialists—from Chicago, Illinois, to wit: Doctor Robert B. Preble, No. 30 No. Michigan Avenue; Doctor Alonzo C. Tenney, No. 25 East Washington Street; and Doctor Isaac A. Abt, No. 104 So. Michigan Avenue; all of whom immediately made all necessary blood tests and examinations and their prognosis did not disclose the nature of the malady, and they were unable from their examinations and diagnosis of the case to offer any solution or remedy for the patient, and that during all of this time the said patient continued to talk constantly as before without any sleep whatsoever. That on the ninth day of her illness Doctor Paul O.

Berger, a practicing chiropractor in the City of Waukegan, was called to treat the said patient, and found upon examination of the spinal column that the patient had two misplaced vertebrae in the neck, one of which pinched the nerve effecting the speech center of the brain; and that on the said ninth day he administered two Chiropractic adjustments to the said patient, and that after a lapse of about twelve hours, and during the tenth day of the illness of said patient, she showed marked and noticeable improvement, and for the first time during her illness slept for brief periods, and her temperature became lower than it had been at any time during the nine days of her illness; that the said Doctor Paul O. Berger continued to administer the Chiropractic adjustments daily for about three days, and that at the end of three days the said patient had ceased talking, and that the symptoms of the malady entirely disappeared, and the said patient was resting and sleeping soundly, and that her present condition is normal.

BLIND CHIROPRACTOR CURES SLEEPING SICKNESS

A healing was performed in Peekskill last Wednesday which was called a miracle by all who saw it. Alonzo Smith, the five-year-old son of a Mahopac Falls farmer, was brought into the office of Dr. C. R. Johnston, chiropractor in the Flatiron Building, with sleeping sickness from which the child had suffered for eleven days.

The boy's parents, several friends, and the Rev. F. S. Cook, pastor of the Baptist Church of Mahopac Falls, brought the boy into Dr. Johnston's office. It was their last hope after consulting seven physicians who held a conference in Carmel last Saturday to discuss the case. Within 15 minutes after the boy was carried into the office he was brought out of the coma and was talking with his parents and friends for the first time in nearly two weeks.—(Peekskill News, Saturday, Feb. 5, 1921.)

BROOKLYN MAN OWES LIFE TO STORY IN THE NEWS

When Emil Fausel, of Brooklyn, read The Evening News' story of how Dr. C. R. Johnston, chiropractor, aroused a victim of sleeping sickness after a single adjustment last week, he at once communicated with a relative in Peekskill, Mrs. Leonard Bohringer, and asked if Dr. Johnston could do anything for his 23-year-old son, Fred, who had been in a state of coma for over three weeks.

It was imperative that Dr. Johnston be rushed to Brooklyn, because the parents said hopes for their son had been given up by four doctors. Dr. Johnston was taken to the Fausel home in Brooklyn, where he relieved the young man. At first Mr. Fausel was unable to speak when he was aroused, but this morning he regained his speech.—(Peekskill News, Wednesday, Feb. 9, 1921.)

TREATMENT TO SPINE BREAKS LONG STUPOR

For 48 hours the nine months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson of 600 Hooker Street, was in a state of coma, a victim of sleeping sickness. Today the infant is wide awake, apparently recovered from the mysterious malady, while Dr. P. H. Griggs, local chiropractor, who is credited with bringing the child out of the clutches of the disease, is preparing to make a statewide announcement of his success in treating the small patient.

The child's ailment was diagnosed as sleeping sickness within a few hours after it entered the stupor. Efforts to rouse it failed. On Wednesday afternoon the chiropractor was called to the Wilkinson home and made an adjustment to the child's spine to restore the nerve supply to the brain. The child roused immediately, and since that time has been normal.—Jacksonville (Ill.) Paper.

THE VALUE OF HUMAN LIFE

By HARRY E. VEDDER, D. C., Ph. C.

Professor and Author of Chiropractic Physiology

What is the value of human life? It cannot be measured by any medium which is in common use. There are so many things that enter into the consideration that we find ourselves lost in a maze of conflicting thoughts when we consider the problem. One may say that the loss of the eyesight is a damage which is considered by the average man and covered by his accident insurance policy to the extent of ten thousand dollars. A like valuation may be put upon other organs, yet in the face of this we see the spectacle of a fifty thousand dollar heart balm being granted by our Courts, and so our basis of computation is entirely changed. The final conclusion is, that human life is a thing which cannot be valued. It is not on the market. No one would sell it for the most fabulous sum because as soon as it is sold, the capacity for appreciating the remuneration would be lost.

Do you realize that disease is a partial loss of life? Do you know that when an organ functions abnormally, it is expressing only a part of the life which it should enjoy? Have you ever considered that this loss of the full expression of life is a thing upon which no value can be placed? When we think of the matter seriously, this is our conclusion, yet daily we jeopardize our lives and place ourselves in conditions where we cannot possibly enjoy the maximum expression of vitality. This condition wherein life is only partly expressed is due to an inability of the nervous system to properly function. It cannot express the maximum vitality because pressure exists on some of its nerve trunks. What is the logical thing to do? Should we take into the body drugs, many of which are deadly poisons, in order to produce certain chemical actions which are not normal to the body? Were we so constructed by the Creator that it is necessary to add something from without in order to maintain health? Of course foods are necessary; air is necessary; light is essential, but these are things for which we have an innate (inborn) desire. We have no desire for the nauseating concoctions of drugs. Isn't it more logical to remove the pressure existing on nerve trunks, thus permitting the full expression of life in the tissue cells?

The Chiropractor is the only health practitioner who is capable of removing the pressure from the nerves and permitting normal expression of life. With an inestimable value upon life, you cannot afford to neglect your body, to continue to suffer, when your Chiropractor can release this nerve pressure and thus permit your enjoying the maximum health.
