IRENE LAMBERTI ELECTED FIRST WOMAN PRESIDENT

The Western States Chiropractic College student body at a recent election selected their first woman president. She is Irene Lamberti, an 8th quarter student.

As the first woman to hold this position Irene's comment was, "As president I find the magnitude of the work and changes, which we the council intend to make, far more consuming than a consideration of the "battle of the sexes' anachronism. A strong student government is a unified government, working beyond petty prejudice and vagary."

Entering positions of responsibility is not new to Ms. Lamberti. After teaching on a fellowship for the New York Council on the Arts, Irene arrived in Las Vegas, Nevada, her present home, to work for a CBS affiliate television station. Her position was as producer and host of a television talk show. (One of her guests at the time was Chester A. Wilke, D.C., who was on a publicity tour at the time for his book, Chiropractic Speaks Out.) Irene's stay in television expedited additional duties as director of public service.

Her experience in public relations has served Irene well. Since she has been at W.S.C.C. both Irene and her husband John Rose, who is also a chiropractic student, have been active in promoting their school's new clinic and other public developments.

It is clear that Ms. Lamberti's love for chiropractic and her experience with people will help her attain the goals and dreams she has for W.S.C.C. in the coming year.

New Track on Campus

A new athletic track has been built at Western States Chiropractic College on acreage east of the campus.

The track will be available for general exercise, jogging clubs and the Physiology of Exercise classes.

Other plans for athletic programs on campus include a tennis court. A fund has been established to receive gifts for this project.

the law recognizes Western States Chiropractic College as an eligible recipient of PESIC funds from the State of Oregon. Once officially accredited by the Council on Chiropractic Education, W.S.C.C. will receive $500 per year for each Oregon resident undergraduate enrolled at the institution. The funds are payable once per year, directly to the institution, for the purpose of instructional support.

One stipulation of eligibility is that the funds not be used as direct aid to students. The institution receiving PESIC funds cannot use them to lower tuition, as a part of a tuition remission program, or any other similar purpose. The general concept behind the PESIC program is to provide state support to private institutions for the education of state residents who might otherwise be enrolled in state institutions.
